CLINTON SAVINGS BANK SELECTS TWO HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS TO RECEIVE STUDENT BANKING SCHOLARSHIPS

CLINTON, Mass. – July 2, 2020 – Clinton Savings Bank has two branch locations at two area high schools: Nashoba Regional High School in Bolton, MA. and Tahanto Regional High School in Boylston, MA. These full-service branches provide a real-time work experience for students as well as financial literacy classes.

Each year, Clinton Savings Bank’s school banking advisors choose a graduating senior from each of these high schools who has participated and excelled in the banking program. This year, the students selected to receive these scholarships are: Alexandra “Maggie” Buyuk, graduating from Nashoba Regional High School and attending UMass Boston this fall, and Katrina Roy, graduating from Tahanto Regional High and attending Quinsigamond Community College this fall.

“Maggie is a goal-driven, hardworking and inspiring young lady who cares about her community and is focused on helping others” said Amanda Jodrey, Clinton Savings Bank’s Program Supervisor for Nashoba High School. “She is going to be a bright light in the future”.

“Katrina impressed me from day one” said Valerie Tomacelli, Clinton Savings Bank’s Program Supervisor for Tahanto High School. “She was very helpful with her fellow students and always came to the Bank with a great smile! Always be yourself Katrina!”
